ABSTRACT

RALIA, KENNY HOMARD R., Bachelor of Arts in Psychology, Department of Psychology, College of Arts and Sciences, Central Luzon State University, Science City of Muñoz, Nueva Ecija Philippines, April 2017, THE RELATIONSHIP OF RELIGIOSITY AND SEXUAL ATTITUDE AMONG ADOLESCENTS

Adviser: Nixon V. Agaser

This study was conducted to determine the relationship of religiosity and sexual attitude among adolescents. Religiosity is defined as characteristics of being involvement in religious activities, belief, and dedication (Mayer and Trommsdorff, 2012). Through the years, Beckwith and Morrow (2005) found that individuals who possess high religiosity and high core spirituality have more conservative sexual attitudes and less sexually permissiveness attitudes than their counterparts, which might lead to fewer sexual experiences.

A total of one hundred fifty adolescents were participants for this study. Specifically, 25 male and 25 female participants from Roman Catholic, 25 male and 25 female from Iglesia ni Cristo, 25 male and 25 female from Born Again. This study used correlational quantitative approach to determine if there is a relationship between the two variables.

Results indicated that Iglesia ni Cristo and Born Again are mostly religious in three main religious groups and religiosity and religiosity and sexual attitude are associated with each other but it depends upon their religious affiliation.
